

PEOPLE

Grand Jury Calls for the Flynn Syndicate Papers.

A Subpoena Was Necessary to Get Them from the County Clerk.

The Grand Jury of Kings County this morning obtained new evidence in the alleged fraud perpetrated by the "Gold Thieves" of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, in granting "blanket" franchises to the Kings County and Nassau Electric Railroad companies.

The new evidence was obtained after examining the incorporation papers of the P. H. Flynn syndicate. The papers show that practically the syndicate is no more in existence, as far as plant is concerned, than is the Union Street Railway Company, whose bid was rejected.

The Aldermen, in granting the franchise to Flynn, pointed out that the Union Street people did not have a plant, and that the corporation was only on paper.

There was a lively scene about the District-Attorney's office this morning when the foreman of the Grand Jury called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

Mr. Cottler then called for the papers of incorporation which the Flynn syndicate had filed with County Clerk Cottler last week. A reply came back that there were no such papers in the office.

Mr. Cottler was then sent to the County Clerk's office, and sent to town, as were the two deputies.

MRS. MASSEY SAYS IT ISN'T SO

She Met the Judge at the Widow's by Agreement.

The story that ex-Judge Massey, of Brooklyn, had discarded the affections of his wife and family, and for the past year had been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

Until that time, it is said, Judge Massey had lived apart from his wife, but the marriage of their daughter brought the couple together.

Judge Massey has been a victim of rheumatism for the past four years, and during that period has been confined to his bed, and for the past year has been surreptitiously visiting Mrs. Augusta Hanna, a widow, living at 184 Seventh avenue, caused considerable gossip among society people in the City of Churches this morning.

The story recalled to the minds of the "smart set" the well known fact that the Judge's daughter, which was one of the society events of the season last year.

BOY WOOD IN COURT AGAIN.

Alleged Murderer of Bertie Wagner Up for Extradition.

Louis Wood, aged eleven, the alleged murderer of Bertie Wagner, of Freehold, N. J., was brought before Justice Bartlett, this morning, on extradition proceedings. The matter was again adjourned until Saturday morning to give Justice Bartlett an opportunity to give carefully all the facts in the case.

It is hoped that Lawyer Foster L. Backus, who has been retained to defend the boy, will return from St. Lawrence County by that time to look out for his client's interests.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

He said that he would protest against the extradition of the boy, and that he would make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

Mr. Wilkin said to-day that under the laws of New Jersey the boy would be hung, if convicted. He, therefore, wanted to act with as great care as possible, and make use of all the rights under the law.

When the boy was brought before Justice Bartlett on Tuesday morning last, Robert J. Wilkin, of the Brooklyn Children's Society, was appointed to look after his rights until Mr. Backus returns or the case is disposed of.

POISONED FOOD AND WATER.

Colored Servant Girl's Revenge for Alleged Cruel Treatment.

Only Her Youth Saved Her from Being Lynched.

HIGHTSTOWN, N. J., June 20.—Elizabeth Stevens, a fifteen-year-old colored girl, was committed to the County Jail at Trenton from this place to-day to await the action of the Grand Jury for attempting to poison a whole family with Ruda brand.

The young girl's fiendish act has startled the community, and although there was talk of lynching her, her youth alone enabled her to escape summary punishment.

The girl is an orphan, and was taken out of the Philadelphia House of Refuge eight months ago by Albert Chamberlain, a prominent farmer on the Princeton road, near here, to do general housework.

The household consists of Mr. Chamberlain, his wife, an eighteen-year-old daughter, and a young son.

About a week ago the three Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

When the Chamberlains were taken ill, their symptoms indicating poisoning. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless. The family, however, tried to trace the source of it, but their efforts were fruitless.

BURGLAR AND POLICE DUEL.

Several Shots Exchanged in Jersey City This Morning.

Residents in the vicinity of Hamilton Park, Jersey City, where a gang of robbers have operated extensively of late, were aroused at 1:30 o'clock this morning by the rapid discharge of firearms and the sound of running footsteps.

Capt. Kelly, of the Second Precinct, and Policemen Donovan and McDuck were in pursuit of the thief who had burglarized the residence of ex-Sheriff Cornelius J. Cronan, at 64 Jersey avenue.

Mr. Cronan and wife had been in New York and retired shortly after midnight. They had been asleep for some time when a light noise in the room. She awakened her husband, who sprang out of bed just in time to see a man passing out of the door. He looked at his trousers, which had been left on a chair, and they were gone.

Mr. Cronan gave an alarm from the window, and as the ex-sheriff ran down to the front door he met Policemen Donovan and McDuck, who had responded to the call.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

At the station-house he gave his name as John Doe, a machinist, but refused to state where he lived or to give further information. On his person was found a pistol, with which he had effected an entrance to Mr. Cronan's house by prying open a door.

He was then arraigned before Justice O'Donnell, and remanded to await further investigation. The police have no doubt that the prisoner is one of a gang which has been operating extensively of late in the vicinity of Hamilton Park.

CLOTHING

GUARANTEE CLOTHING CO., 3d Ave., Cor. 127th St., SEMI-ANNUAL HALF-PRICE

CLEARING SALE, NOW GOING ON.

We have a large accumulation of broken lots of Men's, Boys and Children's Clothing, odd sizes of many of our most desirable styles of Spring and Summer Suits. These we have placed on separate tables and have marked them at EXACTLY ONE-HALF THEIR PREVIOUS PRICES.

This is a last-minute sale on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment.

This is a last-minute sale on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment.

This is a last-minute sale on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment.

This is a last-minute sale on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment.

This is a last-minute sale on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment. The price is marked on each garment.